Our Clothes Back Up Our Advertising

A CLOTHIER'S mere desire to serve his patrons well—to give them the best value for their money amounts to nothing—unless his stock of merchandise is able to back up his good intentions.

The man who has been disappointed elsewhere probably suffered more from lack of expert judgment in buying on the clothier's part than from any ill intentions to give him less than his money's worth.

You will find here, not only a robust desire to serve your best interests carefully and well, but you will find the largest and most complete stock of strictly new clothes in this vicinity to select from

Dr. Gamble is a born teacher and is commended as the ablest exponent of the true doctrine of the Sabbath. Everybody is invited to avail themselves of this rare opportunity.

The complaint is being made that some persons are making changes in their electric lighting arrangements in their homes and other places without first getting a permit therefor from the electrical Superintendent, J. Mjolsness. This is absolutely contrary to the bylaw which states that any person wishing to do any electrical work of any kind whatever, "either installing new electrical apparatus, repairing, altering or adding to any wiring or apparatus already installed" must apply to the Town Electrician for a permit or they become liable to a fine of $50. This section of the bylaw is for the safety of every person concerned and must be adhered to.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was."

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

RHEUMATISM
DURING MARCH

Victims Can Cure Themselves With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

During the month of March people who are afflicted with rheumatism begin to have unpleasant reminders of their trouble. The weather is changeable—balmy and springlike one day, cold, raw and piercing the next. It is such sudden changes of weather that start the pangs and tortures of rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica going. But it must be borne in mind that although weather conditions start the pains, the trouble is rooted in the blood, and can only be cured through the blood. All the liniments and lotions in the world can't cure rheumatism. Rubbing may seem to ease the pain while you are rubbing, but there its value ends. Only by treating the disease through the blood can you cure rheumatism. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured so many thousands of cases of this trouble. The new, rich blood these pills actually make drives out the poisonous acid and rheumatism, lumbago and kindred troubles are banished. Among the many sufferers from rheumatism cured by this method is Mr. R. J. Sinclair, of Gosen, N.S., who says: "About two years ago I was laid up with rheumatism. For two months I could not walk and had to stay in an invalid's chair. My feet were badly swollen and my arms seemed to be paralyzed. I had been using doctor's medicine for a long time but it did not seem to help me, and the doctor finally told me that the only thing that would cure me would be a change of climate. At this time I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and got supply. After I had taken them for a while I found they were helping me, and I got a further supply, and they completely cured me, and I have not been sick one day since. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for this trouble."

If you suffer from rheumatism, or any other disease of the blood or nerves, begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which under a fair trial will do for you what they have done for thousands of others. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MUNICIPALITY OF MOUNTAIN VIEW

WEEDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the farmers of Mountain View Municipality that the Weed Act will be STRICTLY enforced during 1914. It has been noticed that weeds have been abnormally spreading year by year, and in order to check their growth or exterminate them, drastic measures must be taken in the public interest to check or eradicate them. Those who have weeds upon their land should plan before seeding the best way of freeing their land from them. Either summer-fallow or sow for green feed with the intention of cutting before the weed seed can ripen. If it is found that weeds are in your crop grown for grain you may expect to be compelled to hand pull them. It would be considered a favor if every farmer would send an unsigned postal card to the Secretary stating thereon the quarter sections in his neighborhood where he knows weeds are prevalent and also state the kind of weeds.

BY ORDER OF THE COUNCIL.

deep in his trousers pockets. "I got the story from Burton," he said after a deep breath. "I had no conclusion formed, and of course I am not a detective. Things looked black for Mr. Wardrop in view of the money lost, the quarrel with Fleming that morning at the White Cat and the circumstance of his leaving the club and hunting a doctor outside instead of raising the alarm. Still, no two men ever act alike in an emergency. Psychology is as exact a science as mathematics. It gets information from the source, and a man cannot lie in four-fifths of a second. 'Head,' you noticed, brought 'hair' in a second and three-quarters, and the next word 'ice' brought the 'blood' that he had held back before. That doesn't show anything. He tried to avoid what was horrible to him.

"But I gave him 'traveling bag,' after a pause he responded with 'train.' The next word, 'lost' showed what was in his mind; instead of 'found' he said 'woman.' Now then, I believe he was either robbed by a woman or he thinks he was. After all, we can only get what he believes himself.

"Money—letters," another slip.

"Shot—staircase." Where are the stairs at the White Cat?"

"I learned yesterday of a back staircase that leads into one of the upper rooms," I said. "It opens on a side entrance, and is used in emergency."

The doctor smiled confidently.

"We look there for our criminal," he said. "Nothing hides from the chronoscope. Now then, staircase—scar. Isn't that significant? The association is clear. A scar that is vivid enough, disfiguring enough to be the first thing that enters his mind."

"Schwartz?" Burton said with awe. "Doctor, what on earth does eleven twenty-two C' mean?"

"I think that is up to you gentlemen. The C belongs there without doubt. Briefly, looking over these slips, I make it something like this: Wardrop thinks a woman took his traveling bag. Three times he gave the word 'letters,' in response to 'gate,' 'guest' and 'money.' Did he have a guest at the time all this happened at Bellwood?"

"I was the guest in the house at the time."

"Did you offer him money for letters?"

"No."

"Did he give you any letters to keep for him?"

"He gave me the bag that was substituted for his."

"Locked?"

"Yes. By Jove, I wonder if there is anything in it? I have reason to know that he came into my room that night at least once after I went asleep."

"I think it very likely," he said dryly. "One thing we have not touched on, and I believe Mr. Wardrop knows nothing of it. That is the disappearance of the old lady. There is a psychological study for you! My conclusion? Well, I should say that Mr. Wardrop is not guilty of the murder he knows, or thinks he knows, who is. He has a theory of his own about some one with a scar; it may be only a theory. He is in a state of abject fear. Also he is hiding something concerning letters and from the word 'money' in that connection I believe he either sold or bought some damaging papers. He is not a criminal, but he is what is almost worse. He is a weakling."

Burton looked at his watch. "By George!" he said. "Oh, by the way, Knox, where is that locked bag?"

"In my office."

"I'll drop around in the morning and assist you to compound a felon," he said easily. But, as it happened, he did not.

I put him on the train for Bellwood myself, and late that afternoon the three of us—the doctor, Burton and myself—met in my office and went over the doctor's record.

"When the answer comes in four-fifths of a second," he said before we began, "it is hardly worth comment. There is no time in such an interval for any mental reservation. Only those words that showed noticeable hesitation need be considered."

We worked until almost 7. At the end of that time the doctor leaned back in his chair and thrust his hands

I don't call that bad condition, Mr. Wardrop, the doctor said. You are nervous and you need a little more care in your habits. You want to exercise regularly and you will have to cut out everything in the way of stimulants for awhile. Oh, yes, a couple of drinks a day at first, then one a day and then none. And you are to stop worrying. When trouble comes around and stares at you don't ask it to have a drink. Take it out in the air and kill it.

How would Bellwood do? I asked. "Bellwood, of course," the doctor responded heartily. "Ten miles a day, four cigarettes and three meals, which is more than you have been taking, Mr. Wardrop, by two."

I put him on the train for Bellwood myself, and late that afternoon the three of us—the doctor, Burton and myself—met in my office and went over the doctor's record.

"When the answer comes in four-fifths of a second," he said before we began, "it is hardly worth comment. There is no time in such an interval for any mental reservation. Only those words that showed noticeable hesitation need be considered."

We worked until almost 7. At the end of that time the doctor leaned back in his chair and thrust his hands

RASH COVERED CHEST AND BACK

Itching and Burning Pimples Spread. Clothing Irritated. Use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in Three Weeks.

High River, Alta.—My baby was a sufferer from an itching and a burning on chest and back. The trouble began with a fine small rash and got quite a size. The pimples spread until his whole chest and back were covered. Some of them festered and on some the top looked clear. He was fretful and cross and was always rubbing. His clothing irritated him. The trouble caused itching, burning and loss of sleep. His chest and back grew worse and worse; they were a mass of itching pimples. The trouble had lasted two or three weeks and we tried remedies but they failed. Cuticura Soap and Ointment afforded relief in about ten days. I washed the eruption with hot water and Cuticura Soap four times a day, then used the Cuticura Ointment and in three weeks he was well again. He owes it to Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Wolford, Nov. 1, 1912.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, and painful finger-ends with shapeless nails, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment and wear soft bandages or old, loose gloves during the night. deep in his trousers pockets. "I got the story from Burton," he said after a deep breath. "I had no conclusion formed, and of course I am not a detective. Things looked black for Mr. Wardrop in view of the money lost, the quarrel with Fleming that morning at the White Cat and the circumstance of his leaving the club and hunting a doctor outside instead of raising the alarm. Still, no two men ever act alike in an emergency. Psychology is as exact a science as mathematics. It gets information from the source, and a man cannot lie in four-fifths of a second. 'Head,' you noticed, brought 'hair' in a second and three-quarters, and the next word 'ice' brought the 'blood' that he had held back before. That doesn't show anything. He tried to avoid what was horrible to him.

"But I gave him 'traveling bag,' after a pause he responded with 'train.' The next word, 'lost' showed what was in his mind; instead of 'found' he said 'woman.' Now then, I believe he was either robbed by a woman or he thinks he was. After all, we can only get what he believes himself.

"Money—letters," another slip.

"Shot—staircase." Where are the stairs at the White Cat?"

"I learned yesterday of a back staircase that leads into one of the upper rooms," I said. "It opens on a side entrance, and is used in emergency."

The doctor smiled confidently.

"We look there for our criminal," he said. "Nothing hides from the chronoscope. Now then, staircase—scar. Isn't that significant? The association is clear. A scar that is vivid enough, disfiguring enough to be the first thing that enters his mind."

"Schwartz?" Burton said with awe. "Doctor, what on earth does eleven twenty-two C' mean?"

"I think that is up to you gentlemen. The C belongs there without doubt. Briefly, looking over these slips, I make it something like this: Wardrop thinks a woman took his traveling bag. Three times he gave the word 'letters,' in response to 'gate,' 'guest' and 'money.' Did he have a guest at the time all this happened at Bellwood?"

"I was the guest in the house at the time."

"Did you offer him money for letters?"

"No."

"Did he give you any letters to keep for him?"

"He gave me the bag that was substituted for his."

"Locked?"

"Yes. By Jove, I wonder if there is anything in it? I have reason to know that he came into my room that night at least once after I went asleep."

"I think it very likely," he said dryly. "One thing we have not touched on, and I believe Mr. Wardrop knows nothing of it. That is the disappearance of the old lady. There is a psychological study for you! My conclusion? Well, I should say that Mr. Wardrop is not guilty of the murder he knows, or thinks he knows, who is. He has a theory of his own about some one with a scar; it may be only a theory. He is in a state of abject fear. Also he is hiding something concerning letters and from the word 'money' in that connection I believe he either sold or bought some damaging papers. He is not a criminal, but he is what is almost worse. He is a weakling."

Burton looked at his watch. "By George!" he said. "Oh, by the way, Knox, where is that locked bag?"

"In my office."

"I'll drop around in the morning and assist you to compound a felon," he said easily. But, as it happened, he did not.

I put him on the train for Bellwood myself, and late that afternoon the three of us—the doctor, Burton and myself—met in my office and went over the doctor's record.

"When the answer comes in four-fifths of a second," he said before we began, "it is hardly worth comment. There is no time in such an interval for any mental reservation. Only those words that showed noticeable hesitation need be considered."

all day to think it out. I'm afraid to go to sleep tonight."

"You need not be," I assured her. "If necessary we will have the city police in a ring around the house. If you know and don't tell, Margery, you are running a risk, and, more than that, you are protecting a person who ought to be in jail."

"I'm not sure," she persisted. "Don't ask me about it, please."

"What does Mrs. Butler say?"

"Just what she said this morning, and she says valuable papers were taken from under her pillow. She was very ill, hysterical, all afternoon."

I took Margery's small hand between my two big ones.

NO A MIRACLE Just Plain Cause and Effect

There are some quite remarkable things happening every day which seem almost miraculous.

Some persons would not believe that a man could suffer from coffee drinking so severely as to cause spells of unconsciousness. And to find relief in changing from coffee to Postum is well worth recording. Tea also contains caffeine, the same injurious drug found in coffee.

"I used to be a great coffee drinker, so much so that it was killing me by inches. My heart became so weak I would fall and lie unconscious for an hour at a time.

"My friends, and even the doctor, told me it was drinking coffee that caused the trouble. I would not believe it, and still drank coffee until I could not leave my room.

"Then my doctor, who drinks Postum himself, persuaded me to stop coffee and try Postum. After much hesitation I concluded to try it. That was eight months ago. Since then I have had but few of those spells, none for more than four months.

"My friends, and even the doctor, told me it was drinking coffee that caused the trouble. I would not believe it, and still drank coffee until I could not leave my room.

"I feel better, sleep better and am better every way. I now drink nothing but Postum and touch no coffee, and as I am seventy years of age all my friends think the improvement quite remarkable."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Write for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c. and 25c. packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 50c. and 50c. tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"Why don't you tell me?" I urged. "Or you needn't tell me. I know what you think. But there isn't any motive that I can see, and why would she chloroform you?"

"I don't know," Margery shuddered. "Sometimes—I wonder—do you think she is altogether sane?"

Fred and Edith came down the stairs, and the chance for a quiet conversation was gone.

"Watch the house," said Fred. "And, by the way, I guess"—he lowered his voice—"the lady's story was probably straight. There are fresh scratches on the porch roof under her window."

It was a relief to know that, after all, Mrs. Butler was an enemy and a dangerous person to nobody but herself. She retired to her room almost as soon as Fred and Edith had gone. I was wondering whether to tell Margery about the experiment that afternoon, debating how to ask her what letters she had got from the postmaster at Bellwood addressed to Miss Jane and what she knew of Bella. At the same time—bear with me—if I hold back the account of the terrible events that came that night, to tell how beautiful Margery looked as the lamplight fell on her brown hair and pure profile and how the impulse came over me to kiss her as she sat there and how I didn't, after all, and only stooped over and kissed the pink palm of her hand.

The Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada's Report Shows Progress.

Once again the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada has justified its motto of "Prosperous and Progressive" and shows for 1913 a distinct gain over the splendid results in 1912.

This gain is specially noticeable in Business in Force and New Business, showing that if there has been any shake up in business, it has not affected the income of this institution.

Assurances in force now stand at over two hundred millions of dollars—to be exact $202,363,996.00, an increase over 1912 of almost twenty million dollars, while new business paid for has jumped to over thirty-four million dollars, being an increase of three and one-half million over the preceding year.

The Company's surplus over all liabilities and capital now stands at five and three-quarter millions, its assets being almost fifty-six million dollars, and showing an increase of over six millions for the year.

Once again the Sun Life asserts its position as the Premier Canadian Life Company, and Canada may well be proud of the success of this institution Company, illustrating as it does the result of the foresight of many thousands of men who rely on it for the traditional rainy day.

This report is another bright spot on the financial horizon.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the delicate parts of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedial treatment. Deafness is the result of the Malacous Liner of the Eustachian Tube. When this is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, it can never be cured. Deafness is not an incurable disease, as ten out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

WHISTLER STORIES

Audacity and Sarcasm of the Eccentric Genius.

THE FAMOUS PEACOCK ROOM

Jimmie's Offhand Hospitality, at His Patron's Expense, While Decorating It, the Clash It Led to and the Way the Artist Squared Accounts.

In Mrs. Alec Tweedie's "Thirteen Years of a Busy Woman's Life" she tells this story of Whistler, which she heard at first hand:

"The famous peacock room at Prince's Gate" was a wonderful scheme of decoration, peacock's eyes on a gold ground being its principal motif. About the year 1880 the late Mr. Leyland, a wealthy shipowner and patron of the arts, had taken this grand new mansion and asked Whistler to decorate a room. Jimmy, poor and out at elbows as usual, jumped at the idea, but no terms were fixed upon. The work began. It was a prodigious undertaking, and the extraordinary and erratic little man gave it his whole time.

"Being at Prince's Gate all day and having the run of Leyland's house, Whistler had a hospitable way of inviting his friends to come and see the room and then he would ask them to stop to luncheon. This sort of thing, which began occasionally, ended in being an almost daily occurrence, and Jimmy used to hold a little levee every morning, when three, four or five people remained to luncheon. This became too much for Mr. Leyland, and his plan for putting an end to the campaign was a somewhat ingenuous one.

"Jimmy or a day entertained four friends. The meal not being announced, he rang the bell to the butler. 'When in lunch,' he asked.

"'I have no orders for lunch,' replied the man, with a stately air.

"'Oh, no, of course,' replied Jimmy, not in the least disconcerted, 'We'll go along to such and such a hotel. Stupid of me to forget it.'

"But it was enough, and, though he pretended not to mind and with that delighful impudence for which he was famous turned it off, he never forgave the incident and determined to pay Leyland out. From that day he took his own lunch in a little paper parcel and sat and devoured it when so inclined. On the next occasion Leyland came in to admire the peacock decorations about the usual luncheon hour.

"'You will have some lunch, won't you?' Whistler said. Leyland looked surprised.

"Up jumped Jimmy, fetched his bag and proceeded to untie his parcels, saying: 'It's all right, old chap; have no anxiety. It is my lunch, not yours, and you are heartily welcome to it.'

"When the work was accomplished which had taken so long Leyland wished to pay the bill and asked the artist what was his figure. 'I have worked a whole year and more,' Whistler said. 'I consider my services are worth £2,000 a year, therefore the figure is £2,500, from which you can deduct the few hundreds you have given me on account.'

"Leyland was horrified. 'Preposterous,' he said, 'perfectly preposterous!'

"Jimmy looked at him and drew himself up to his full height, which was not great. 'I beg, Mr. Leyland, that you will accept as a gift the entire work of my life for the last year and a quarter. I can compromise nothing.'

"Once again Whistler scored and Leyland paid. Whistler's thanks to his patron afterward took the form of painting a life size portrait of him as a devil with horns and hoofs."

Sir El. J. Poynter, P. R. A., says the New York Sun, told in an interview how when he was studying in Paris for three or four years there was one artistic group called "Trilby." He says:

"My companions were Whistler, Du Maurier, Val Prinsel, Lamont, Thomson and Armstrong. Of course Du Maurier altered the thing a good deal, but his picture of studio life was in the main a truthful representation of our life at that time. Trilby herself, I believe, was a pure product of the author's brain."

"In many ways the most remarkable man among us was Whistler. If he had only had energy there is no knowing to what height he might have soared, but he was incurably lazy. I remember visiting him once at a nursing home in Paris. He had been working a little on a study in pink carnations. It was exquisite from the extraordinary sense of color it displayed. This was his great gift. He excelled every painter ever known in purity and delicacy of coloring. He rarely finished any work, but he loved to pretend, just for fun, that his unfinished studies were perfect works of genius. Then he would chuckle when people took him at his word and declared that the very incompleteness of the sketches constituted their great artistic merit."

A DUKE'S OPERA.

His Grace of Argyll Has Had Bad Luck With His Show.

Several months ago, the Duke of Argyll, who is a former Governor-General of Canada, completed the libretto of a new opera founded on the life of an ancient Celtic king of Ireland, whose period was contemporaneous with the Carthage of Queen Dido. The music was to be composed by Learmont Drysdale, of Edinburgh, and the opera produced by Oscar Hammerstein at the London Opera House.

Vicissitudes follow most people who wander in the fields of art or worship at the shrines of the Muses, and even a great nobleman who has not only won nearly all the orders and decorations of Christendom, but also a wife from the British royal house, is not exempt from the trial and disappointments that vex the artistic temperament.

The Duke of Argyll's opera — its title is "Flora and Tera" — has not yet been produced, and, as he told a press representative at Kensington Palace the circumstances of the delay, it was clear that he felt none of the vexation of spirit which would depress and sadden less exalted workers in the world of art.

The duke long ago completed his share in the opera, which tells of an event in the life of a Celtic monarch and a Princess Grania, who flourished in Ireland about the time when the Phoenicians traded to those shores. Those early traders had discovered the secret of glass manufacture, and the crystal baubles which they carried with them in large quantities for trading purposes roused the cupidity of the wild Irishmen of those days. The bartering leads up to a dispute, and eventually the monarch is carried off to Carthage, and this famous city being the scene of the next act gives fine opportunities for display.

The libretto was sent to Mr. Drysdale to compose the music, because the duke was attracted by the reputation he had gained as a musician and also because he was a descendant of the famous Sir Thomas Learmont, the Border poet, and was steeped in the ancient lore of those days on which the story of the opera was based.

The history of this opera itself, however, is a subject full enough of tragedy to form the basis of a story in itself, for Mr. Drysdale died on the completion of the music, and, as is well known, Mr. Hammerstein's connection with opera in London was dramatically severed.

The Duke of Argyll seen nothing of his opera since, a fact that he takes with complacence, as it is in the safe hands of Miss Drysdale in Edinburgh, the sister of the composer, who now owns his effects, including the opera. The duke would like to see the opera produced, and it appears Miss Drysdale is equally anxious and willing to negotiate with anyone in a position to produce the opera properly, and has unbounded faith in the excellence of her late brother's work.

It will be a pity if so much good work should go for nothing, especially as there is a constant cry of the paucity of English opera and of the want of national talent in this branch of art.

Those who have heard the music are much impressed by its tunefulness as well as by its power and passion, and it may be taken that in this section of Britain's history the Duke of Argyll, known to all true Gaels as the MacClellan Mhor, is an authority who can be depended on to create the correct historical atmosphere.

A Huge Punch-Bowl.

A correspondent of Country Life sends some particulars about an extraordinary punch brew which took place on Oct. 25, 1894.

The biggest brew on record was made at the house of the Rt. Hon. Edward Russell, commander-in-chief of His Majesty's Forces in the Mediterranean. A garden fountain, placed where four walks met, was used as a bowl, and in it the following ingredients were poured:

Four hogsheads of brandy, 25,000 lemons, twenty gallons of lime-juice, 1,300 cwt. of white Lisbon sugar, 5 pounds of grated nutmegs, 300 toasted biscuits, and one pipe of dry mountain Malaga. Here, indeed, was a punch-bowl worthy of the heroes of the seventeenth century. A boat was specially built so that a boy might row about in it and fill the cups of the assembled guests, which, according to our authority, probably numbered more than 6,000 men.

Dominion surveyors who have been engaged during the past season making an investigation of the Upper Columbia river to determine the feasibility of opening a shipping route to tide water, are compiling their findings to make a report to the Government. Canada is interested in opening an economical all water route as an outlet to the great wheat crop, and to open a market for the great coal deposits and to compete for the oil trade of the northwest when the industry reaches a producing basis.

Ship Without Under Water Propellers Charles Bethune of Sydney, N.S., announces that he has completed a model of a ship without propellers or any kind of machinery under the water line. He says the invention is practical for ocean liners and that one so equipped could make the passage from St. Paul's Island to Lundy Island, England, in fifty hours.

PETER THE PACKER.

Some Stories of Ireland's Retiring Lord Chief Justice.

So far from resenting the description of "Peter the Packer," bestowed upon him by the Nationalists, on account of the manner in which he resolutely set aside jurors notoriously in sympathy with defendants in cases which came before him, when Mr. Balfour was Irish Secretary and the Coercion Act was in force, Lord O'Brien, who has just tendered his resignation as Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, has, on more than one occasion, remarked that the title was quite justified.

"I certainly eliminated from the jury-box," he has said, "those who were prejudiced. I did so without apology, and would do it again if in the same position. I ought to have been called 'The Great Unpacker'."

It has been truly said that Lord O'Brien has had some bitter political opponents, but not a single enemy. He is a typical Irishman — genial, kind-hearted and witty, with a brogue of exceptional strength. He was Queen Victoria's guest on several occasions during Her Majesty's last visit to Ireland, and he greatly amused the Queen on one occasion by describing how, when traveling abroad before his elevation, he inscribed himself in the books of the Swiss hotels as Her Britannic Majesty's First Serjeant-at-Law. Although the title was strictly correct, its pompous nature threw the officials of Switzerland into consternation, and they had much to do to decide whether diplomatic courtesies were not due to this high and mighty personage.

A story which Lord O'Brien is rather fond of telling against himself relates to an occasion when he hired a hackney-car at Sligo for a drive after a weary day in court. He mounted the car beside the driver, and the "jarvey," believing the Attorney-General, as Lord O'Brien then was, to be inside the vehicle, remarked, "That's a hard man inside."

"Yes," said Lord O'Brien, "I believe he is a man with an indifferent reputation."

At the end of the drive the Attorney-General handed the "jarvey" a gold coin, and the surprised and delighted man, looking first at the coin and then at the Attorney-General, whom he then recognized, said:—

"Well, after all, the devil isn't as black as he's painted."

Hidden Money.

Among the eccentricities of the rich, the passion for always possessing enormous sums of ready cash is surely one of the most extraordinary. A former Lord Dysart one day asked a companion-nurse to go to town and get a check cashed for him at the Bank of England. When she was ready to start the old peer sat down and wrote out a check for $500,000, and told her to be sure and see that she got one note for the whole amount.

The check was duly presented, and the bank, having satisfied themselves with the nurse's authority for making such a request, suggested that a clerk should accompany her and hand the $500,000 note in person to his lordship. After having done so the clerk told the peer that only three such notes were in existence. "One," he said, "we have at the bank, another I have just handed to your lordship, and the third, which some time ago disappeared from circulation, we have never been able to trace." "Perhaps I can help you," said Lord Dysart, and going to a bureau he unlocked a drawer and took out the missing $500,000 note, which had been lying there for years.

Saving Famous Landmark.

William Blake's house at Lambeth London is now in danger of demolition, and it is hoped that an effort will be made to preserve the place as a museum. The district has altered considerably since the time when the poet-painter made Lambeth his home.

"Hercules Buildings," writes Gilchrist in his life of Blake, "was then a street of modest, irregular-sized houses from one to three stories high, with forecourts or little gardens in front in the suburban style. Blake's was . . . on the right-hand side as you go from the bridge to the palace. It had a wainscoted parlor, pleasant, low windows, and a narrow strip of real garden behind, wherein grew a fine vine . . . Open garden ground, interspersed with a few lines of clean, new-built houses, lay about and near, and at the back Blake looked out towards Lambeth Palace and the Thames."

She Was Careful.

Mistress—Now, Sarah, I want you to be careful about breaking this vase. It cost a great deal of money, and I would hate to have it carelessly broken the first thing.

Sarah (three days later)—There's your vase, ma'am, and I couldn't have broke it more carefully if I'd tried for a month.

Mother's Busy Day.

The monologue artist was moving his audience to tears. "Dear old mother," he was saying, "I will never forget how she used to rock all us children to sleep. There were nineteen of us, and by the time she had us rocked to sleep the alarm clock rang, and she had to get dad's breakers."

SHOCK CAUSES DUMB TO SPEAK

Remarkable Cases of People Dumb for Years, Speaking.

The recent case of a young woman in England, who, after being deaf and dumb for 21 years, is slowly recovering both hearing and speech — the shock of the tragic end of her brother, who drowned himself in the Stour, being regarded as responsible for the miraculous example of shock succeeding where doctors have failed — recalls similar instances.

Some time ago the narrow escape of a boy from drowning off North Shields fish quay had a remarkable sequel. While efforts were being made to restore the apparently drowned boy to consciousness by means of artificial respiration, a man who had been deprived of speech two years earlier as the result of an accident, pushed through the crowd merely out of curiosity. As soon as he saw the prostrate boy, although not in any way related to him, the sight gave him such a shock that his speech suddenly returned, and he fell to the ground in a state of collapse. Upon recovering he continued to speak freely, and has suffered no further impediment since.

It is not many years since a remarkable case of dumbness excited great interest in medical circles in Germany. Twelve months earlier a Bavarian cattle dealer had been kicked by a horse, with the result that he completely lost the use of his voice. A year later he was riding a doomed horse to the knacker's yard, when the animal, who clearly had plenty of life in him, began to kick and plunge in a dangerous manner. The man, we are told, lost his head completely in wild excitement, and after a few minutes began to talk, completely regaining his speech to the boundless astonishment of his friends.

Trapping the Gossip.

Mrs. Pankhurst was complimented by a reporter one day on the way she subdues hecklers.

"We suffragists," said Mrs. Pankhurst, good-humoredly, "have wide experience with hecklers. At one time they upset me, but now I rather enjoy their foolish questions. If they are too persistent, though—that is different. A noisy audience is very disagreeable to a public speaker."

Mrs. Pankhurst, smiling, continued: "I can sympathize with the minister who was greatly disturbed by a certain set of women in his congregation who persistently gossiped in a loud tone during service."

"One Sunday morning he executed a plan which he had devised to stop this annoyance. At a given signal the choir stopped abruptly on a certain word in the middle of a hymn. 'Then one of the gossips, unable to check herself, was heard all over the church to say:

"'I always fry mine in lard.'

"As we now know," announced the minister, "that she always fries hers in lard, we will proceed with the singing."

Fears British Decadence.

Sir James Crichton-Browne, in speaking recently at the annual meeting of the National League for Physical Education and Improvement in London, urged the importance of grappling with "the greatest catastrophe that could befall the world—the decadence and deterioration of the British race."

He asserted that in the large public schools of Britain to-day it would be impossible to find ten absolutely sound children. From the reports of medical officers it seemed as if almost every child had some flaw or blemish that interfered with his education or must mar more or less his prospect in life. "I might look in vain, he added, for child-stuff out of which to build a Venus de Medici or the Apollo Belvedere.

Green Sunsets in England.

Green sunsets seen by the Russian explorers in the newly discovered polar land have been matched in England. Throughout November and December of 1883 the intensity and afterglows were of wonderful intensity and varied colors. At Chelsea especially the sun went down over the Thames and the blaze of unearthly beauty ranging from deepest red to green, as may be seen in a series of water color sketches made at the time and now preserved in the Chelsea free library. Sir Norman Lockyer and other astronomers attributed these winter sunsets to the volcanic dust projected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in Java, in the previous August.

James Ramsey MacDonald, Socialist M.P. in the British House of Commons, has added a gem to the collection of mixed metaphors for which political orators are famous. Referring to the Syndicalists, Mr. MacDonald said:

"No sooner do they get themselves into a hole than they put down a string so that we may pull them out of it. The Deiliah of Syndicalism has endeavored to cut the locks of trade unionism, so that it becomes a mere piece of putty in the hands of the political authorities."

This is declared to be the most magnificent mixing of metaphors by an English public man since John Burns inveighed against the London County Council for "taking a white elephant under its wing."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Ease For the Feet.

A simple, effective remedy for tired feet is to bathe them twice a week in hot water into which have been put two tablespoonsfuls of ordinary salt. When thoroughly dry, rub the soles of the feet gently for some minutes with a smooth piece of pumice stone. Only use the salt twice a week, but the pumice stone every night and you will find immediate relief and suffer no more from tired feet. Another good thing is to rub a slice of lemon on the feet. This will be found very soothing.

LOOPING THE AERIAL LOOP.

Beachey's Feat Said to Be More Daring Than That of Pegoud.

Before Pegoud looped the loop in the air, "Link" Beachey, the well known daredevil aviator, said he could do it if he weren't afraid of luring his brother aviators to try it after him. Seeing that the Frenchman set the fashion, Beachey concluded that he would be absolved from blame for accidents if he took it up as a mere imitator. Accordingly he did the trick three times in succession above San Diego, Cal.

Pegoud's feat was noised abroad throughout the land, but Beachey's received only a few lines of comment in the papers. Those that know, however, maintain that Beachey's was of vastly greater significance in the development of aviation. Pegoud flew in a slow and steady passenger carrying machine, bearing not more than three and one-half pounds to the square foot of lifting surface. His speed was less than forty-five miles an hour. But Beachey looped over and over at nearly seventy-five miles an hour in a ninety horsepower speed machine lifting six pounds to the square foot.

As one expert put it, "One machine dutes over like a dead leaf turning in still air; the other shrieked in an aerial circle like a crazy sky rock."

SMOKE EATS UP MONEY.

This Avoidable Pest Costs Chicago More Than Its Taxes.

Experts figure that Pittsburgh's yearly soot emissions would make a pile 100 feet in diameter and 600 feet high, or larger than the Washington monument. The money waste and damage are estimated at $12,000,000 yearly.

Sample tests made some time ago in Chicago of the cost of the smoke nuisance in that city showed that the smudge bill exceeded the tax bill, which was about $40,000,000 a year, and the cost of smoke in other cities is fully as great in proportion to the size of the city.

This includes only the injury to property. Doctors will tell you that is the least damage. They will point out how the smoke gets into the throat and lungs and injures the health, causing chronic ailments which diminish the happiness and shorten the life of those who are not responsible for the smoke evil.

Rexall Orderlies

More
One Hundred Million Were Sold Last Year

This enormous quantity was used with good results by busy men who suffered from constipation, due to lack of exercise, or indigestion caused by overwork—by children whose parents realize the harmful effect of common purgatives—by old people whose systems cannot stand anything harsh—by women during pregnancy, and after childbirth, when any medicine with a violent action would be particularly dangerous. Many of these people are your neighbors and friends. Ask anyone who has ever used them—they'll tell you Rexall Orderlies satisfied and helped them.

—a gentle laxative in the form of a chocolate-tasting tablet. One of these tablets eaten just before going to bed will help to restore your bowels to normal activity at a time when, your body being at rest, the medicine can do its best work. As a result of taking that tablet (or say two, if your case is obstinate), your bowels will move easily and naturally in the morning. The use of Rexall Orderlies for a few days afterward will restore normal regularity. Even chronic constipation is benefited by them, and it is not necessary to continue the treatment for a long time, because, instead of driving Nature, they simply help her to help herself.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores and in this town only by us. In vast pocket tin boxes, 10c, 25c, 50c

Is Our Guarantee—
You

Risk No Money

If Rexall Orderlies do not make your bowels act right, tell us so and we'll give back your money without asking a single question. There is no red-tape to this guarantee. It means just what it says. You sign nothing. We won't hesitate, or ask you any questions. Your word is enough. If Rexall Orderlies do not do all you expect them to—if you don't feel better after using them and find that they are the pleasantest-acting and best laxative you have ever used, we want you to tell us and get your money back.

The First Essential!
You have often said what you would do if you were in some one else's shoes or had some one else's job to do. You have honestly thought that you could make a better fist of it than he was doing. And perhaps you could. But really your honest conviction in the matter did not make it absolutely possible, notwithstanding the way you felt about it, that you might have showed up worse than he did. It might have been that there were factors in the situation that you didn't understand, and that his job would have looked quite different when you got at it from what it did when you were watching him do it. It was so easily possible that it would have been so that for the future it might be better that you be a little less sure of your efficiency for the other man's work, or better, that you give a little less attention to how it is being done, thus saving more for your own. If you could practice doing your own job as well as you are encouraging yourself to think you could do the other fellow's it would probably be much better all around. For after all what we would do if we were somewhere else is not so important as what we are doing being where we are.—Christian Guardian.

SHE GOT SO SHE WAS ALMOST INSANE*AND THEN FOUND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

That's Why Mrs. Wellington Dunlop Says Dodd's Kidney Pills are the Best of all Medicines.

South Waterville, York Co., N.B. (Special).—Mrs. Wellington Dunlop, an estimable resident of this place, has given an interview in which she states that she believes Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the best of all medicines. Mrs. Dunlop says:

"When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I was in a terrible condition. I had been sick for over a year and had paid out more than one hundred and thirty dollars for doctors and medicine. I would get some better and then get just as bad as ever.

"The doctor said my trouble came from my stomach. His medicine relieved me for only a few minutes after I had taken it, and I got so that I was nearly insane.

"I had not taken Dodd's Kidney Pills two days till I was some better. I took twelve boxes in all, and I can truly say they have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are suffering woman's best friend. If you haven't tried them yourself, ask your neighbors.

A Remedy for Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will work wonders in relieving pain.

Dangerous Throat Troubles Prevented by Nerviline*IT ENDS MISERY OF COLDS QUICKLY

Don't wait till night. Get after your cold now—this very minute, before it grows dangerous you should apply old-time "Nerviline."

Rub your chest and throat, rub them thoroughly with Nerviline. Relief will be immediate.

Nerviline will save you from lying awake to-night, coughing, choking and suffering from congestion in the chest and acute pain in the throat.

Nerviline will break up that dull neuralgic headache—will kill the cold and chill at its very beginning—will save you from perhaps a serious illness.

To take away hoarseness, to break up a grippy cold, to cure a sore throat or bad cold in the chest, you can use nothing so speedy and effective as Nerviline. For forty years it has been the most largely used family remedy in the Dominion. Time has proved its merit, so can you by keeping handy on the shelf the large 50c. family size bottle; small trial size 25c., sold by any dealer anywhere.

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders, the most effective vermicide that can be used. It is absolute in clearing the system of worms and restoring those healthy conditions without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is the most trustworthy of worm exterminators.

The request concert given by the band and orchestra on Tuesday night last was not a success in point of attendance by the public, and in fact the organizations themselves were not in the best condition to give a concert because of the absence of several players, but that the audience appreciated their efforts was fully demonstrated by the loud applause and many encores. The male chorus was in good shape and those who heard them before thought they had improved. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson with their violin duette brought down the house and Chris. Stendahl's guitar solos brought back old times.

Hair Doesn't Die

It Has To Be Killed

Hair often continues to live and grow long after the death of the body. But it is often killed through neglect or misuse. Almost always the woman or man whose hair is falling out, or is stringy, lifeless and dull-looking, is entirely to blame because of not giving it the proper care. Use Harmony Hair Beautiful to make it glossy, soft and silky, and Harmony Shampoo to keep hair and scalp thoroughly clean. It is delightfully perfumed with true rose. Sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil, and will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo is most convenient to use, giving an instantaneous rich, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair, and leaves no harshness or stickiness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautiful, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Kress Stores, and in this town only by us, H. W. Chambers, Didsbury.
